Accused Of Having Liquor Improperly In His Possession

George W. Bulmer of Chauvin, Alta., was before the A.P.P. Court Saturday on the charge of being illegally in possession of liquor. The claim of the prosecution in this case is that the accused is running a branch of the Lee Wines Liquor Company of Saskatoon without having made the proper registration of the warehouse and the liquor found therein by the A.P.P. is considered to be "in a place other than a private dwelling house." The case is creating considerable interest. A. E. Popple is handling the case for the crown and Mr. Friedman and C. C. McCaul K.C., are acting for the defence.

Acting under the authority of a warrant issued by Police Magistrate J. H. Dawson, Constable Holtsbaum searched the premises occupied by G. W. Bulmer and found 75 cases of liquor and 10 barrels of beer mised.

The liquor was removed from the premises for custody.

Aged Man Dies From Exposure Near Kitscoty

Wandered From Nephew's Farm and Was Found Three Days Later

While on a visit with relatives a short distance northeast of Kitscoty, James Donaldson, age 80, wandered from his nephew's farm on Friday last, and was found in a dying condition on Monday afternoon on the farm of a neighbour a few miles distant. The aged man, who had come to the Kitscoty district about three weeks ago from Forest, Ontario, died about eight o'clock the same evening while being removed to the hospital at Lloydminster. News of the sad affair was only received at "A" Division headquarters of the provincial police this morning in the form of a report from Constable Keith.

The old man is described as being particularly strong and healthy for a man of his age, and his friends and relatives are unable to account for his actions in remaining in the open for the better part of three days apparently without food or shelter.

The deceased left the farm of his nephew, James Donaldson, on Friday morning ostensibly with the intention of visiting a neighbor, James Jeffries, of Staplehurst, about three miles away. It was expected that he would return home on Sunday. When he failed to do so the alarm was raised, and a search party immediately organized. This party obtained the information that he had called at the farm of Elmer Miller on Saturday morning, and stated that he was on his way to the home of another neighbor about a mile distant. About 3.30 the man was found in a very weakened condition. Dr. A. B. Cooke was called, and ordered his removal to the Lloydminster hospital.

Coroner Smith, of Vermilion, was acquainted with the facts of the case, and decided an inquest was unnecessary.

Ladies Organize Ball League

Mrs. D. W. Parcells and Mrs. Ellis were joint hostesses Saturday evening in entertaining our three local basketball teams.

The social part of the evening included games and music, terminating in the serving of refreshments.

The business part of the three locals was next in order; in which it was decided that the Married, Single, and High School Basketball teams should form a league, known as the Local Ladies Basketball League. Mr. Laws was appointed to act as referee.

The schedule was arranged as follows:

Married VS Single, Wednesday, September 15th at 4.30 p.m.

Single VS High School, Friday, September 17 at 4.30 p.m.

High School VS Married Wednesday September 22nd at 4.30 p.m.

Single VS Married Friday September 24th at 4.30 p.m.

High School VS Single Wednesday September 29th at 4.30 p.m.

Married VS High School, Friday October 1st at 4.30 p.m.

Additional members are expected for next Wednesday afternoon.

As to the evenly matched ability of the three teams—well that depends on practice.

Local Teachers Organize Alliance

Chauvin has long been noted as an agricultural centre. As a town its business houses and methods have placed it in the position of second to none of all the towns on the G.T.P. Long may it hold its supremacy. Forward the fame of our district. This time in the sphere of education. To be brief, a local branch of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance was formed in Chauvin on Sept. 4th. A meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Laws where a resolution was made forming a local branch of the Alliance.

Mr. Laws spoke at some length on the aims of the alliance and desirability of forming a local branch. His views were enthusiastically upheld by all present.

The following officers were then elected: President—C. Laws, Vice-President—Miss Freeman, Press correspondent—Mrs. G. Saul, Secretary—G. M. Saul.

After the meeting a dainty supper was served and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

A Birds Eye View

By RUSTICANA

One of the finest ceremonies to our thinking that took place in connection with the recent visit to Edmonton of the Imperial Press delegates was the unfurling by Lady Burnham of the Flag, sent by the children of Edmonton, England, to the children of Edmonton, Alberta. We all know how the children of Edmonton, England saved their pennies to send this flag to their Alberta namesakes, as a token of the Mother-countrys' appreciation of what Canada had done to keep the old flag flying.

Children have long memories, and we feel sure many of the young folks present, as they listened to the splendid sentiments of Lady Burnham as she unfurled it to the breezes, will be remembered long after, and stand them in good stead, should need arise. This is the sort of occasion when the spirit of true patriotism and a sense of citizenship is born, without which no man can be true, either to himself, or his country. Not that we would advocate the sort of flag waving fanatic, who keeps waving it offensively in season and out, (though it might be if we had waved ours a little more, the other fellow would have been forced to rest his arm, and voice, more) but anyhow it wont hurt either the older or younger generation to pay a little more reverence to the flag and stop once more to consider the high honor which is theirs to live under the "Old Flag, the dear Flag—the Flag of a thousand years," and assume the responsibilities attendant upon such an honor.

And speaking of the privileges and honors and the proper spirit of appreciation of such, don't you think it is just about time we Chauvinites should begin to appreciate our high privileges as Canadians in having a Dominion Day to celebrate?

Our hearts may be in the right place, but who's to know it, when on Jul 1st Chauvin is like a deserted village, and on July 4th it resembles—well—a 4th of July glorification? The facts look all against us, don't they? We have heard the excuse put forward that seeing so many Chauvinites rush off to sports elsewhere on Dominion Day, it wouldn't pay to hold it, and so the 4th was chosen as a graceful compliment to our neighbors to the South! But waiving the fact that they are quite able to do this sort of thing for themselves, has our sense of humor so far forsaken us, as to blind us to what occasion we are actually celebrating, Paying the other fellow a compliment is all right when it doesn't involve a slur on our own dignity, or honor, but otherwise let us put a crimp in our complimenting, lest we make ourselves look ridiculous, if nothing worse. Dominion Day is a day for Canadians to be proud of, and all who enjoy the benefits of being Canadians should while doing so, help uphold her traditions.

This is a small matter, or a large one, according to the angle from which one views it. But personally we have the same scorn for the man who wrote:

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead—"
"Who never to himself hath said—"
"This is my own, my native land—"

Ribstone Notes

Threshing is all the talk around these parts at present. Several are expecting to begin threshing some time this week.

We are all glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. T. Smith who returned from Terrace, B.C. recently. They expect to spend some time in Ribstone. Mrs. Chas Waite and family from Terrace are also visiting around here.

Mr. H. Gilroy spent a few days visiting at the home of Mr. R. J. Wilde he has now left for his home in Sask. Some of the Ribstoners went to Art-

We expect to have the Rural phone through this district next spring, which we think will make a big difference.

Duck hunting seems to be the general sport just now.

A large crowd gathered at the station last Sunday to say good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. Gregor who left for Graceland College in U.S.A. We are very sorry indeed to see them go as community and in their home. We extend to them our very best wishes and hope they will like their new home. We hope that our loss will be some one else's gain.

Mr. Wm. Dallyn from St. Thomas Ont. is visiting with his nephews, John and A. Dallyn. He was in this district once before for the duck and chicken season, and said that anyone who spent a while in Ribstone always wanted to return.

We are expecting new neighbors in town. Their house is being put in. Don't forget Ribstone Fall Fair is coming soon.

idents have signed it, but to every woman who has the welfare of her home and country at heart.

To The Women of the Province of Alberta.

July 21, 1920

Dear Sisters:-

The issue at stake in the coming Referendum on the question of the Inter Provincial Liquor Trade lead us to feel that as women, we have a common interest in a common cause, inasmuch as to all of us the home and the life and well-being of the child are the paramount issues in our national life.

The question to be voted upon is whether we wish to continue the shipment of Alcoholic Liquor for beverage purposes into the provinces which have voted to outlaw its sale within their borders, thus giving to the provinces a larger measure of autonomy in controlling the traffic than they have had heretofore.

But the real issue goes much deeper than that. We may as well recognize what the trade know full well, that we are in a fight to the finish and every victory won means a trench gained and one more stronghold of the enemy taken. This vote will also say to our own Government and to the world at large whether we wish to place further restrictions on the traffic, or whether we wish to re-instate it in the province.

This is the first time the women of the province have had a chance to vote upon a distinctly moral issue. How will we face the responsibility? No great victory is accomplished in these days without organization and we urge our women members to take note of this. In every place, see that there are women members of the general organization in your town or community, but if greater effort than this is needed to insure getting out the women's vote, then let the women band together for this purpose, utilizing any existing organizations as units through which you work but co-operating under a common leadership. Appoint your captains and your sub-captains and district your whole territory. Give to each sub-captain the responsibility of—say from four to six families and expect her to see that the women in these families receive plenty of literature, that they register and have their names in the voter's list and that they get out to vote.

For further particulars re organization apply to the head office of your own society. This is work worth any effort you may put into it.

The preliminary hearing was given at Edgerton last week in the case of Tom B. vs. Joel Campbell, the charge being one of assault and causing actual bodily harm. Police magistrate Dawson at the conclusion of the evidence for prosecution remanded the accused for trial. N. S. Kenny, of Wainwright appeared for the prosecution and May & MacKenzie for the defense.

ARTLAND ARGUS

Mr. A. C. Rose has been appointed buyer for the Atlas elevator at this point.

On the 8th instant, Mr. Stanley Carter brought in the first load of this season's wheat to Artland.

The prohibition vote will be taken on the 25th of October.

For Artland sub-division the polling booth will be at or near the T. Kitching store.

Four cars of cattle shipped by Mr T. Kitching went forward to the Winnipeg market last Sunday.

That Imperial Avenue leading from the Post Office to the central portions of this metropolis, was recently the subject of criticism on the part of an otherwise genial motorist, who pointed out to us the jagged willow brush that threatened his immaculate tires. We besought him to bear his soul in patience and go away remembering that next year's appropriation will probably fix things better than he ever dreamt.

A true "lover of the road" buzzed into Artland last week.

An individual, who at the present price of shoe leather, was actually in price of shoe leather, was actually in York to San Diego.

The hobbies that some worthy people indulge in, are past comprehension

We are glad to hear that Mr. T. S. Smith who is still in hospital at Biggar, continues to make steady progress toward recovery.

The speech made at the meeting of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on the 8th instant, by the retiring President, contained points of extreme interest to all Western grain growers.

Mr. Botterell naturally was highly optimistic as to the possible results this season, resulting from the de-control of wheat.

Mr. Botterell welcomes de-control mainly because in the interest of the public

He stated his case with force and skill, but he overlooks the fact that during the war, at certain periods, the Western grain grower did profit and was protected by the operation of government control.

To state that the United States, the United Kingdom, and others of the allied countries, did find that government control along certain lines, was not justified by results, is to beg the question—The western farmer did derive benefit, and that was the chief concern of the moment for us on this side.

That the grain grower this season will receive a high figure will be steadily maintained, we feel convinced. The Argentine, Australian and Russian situation alone of themselves justify the expectation. Mr. Botterell in his statement admits the fact.

We should greatly like to receive enlightenment from Mr. Botterell when he states "We know how necessary future trading is as a part of the safe and sound financing of trading. We also know how often it is identified with gambling—and therefore exposed to most irrelevant criticisms."

We would certainly welcome any relevant criticism that Mr. Botterell might give on this interesting point.

It would pay the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to make an effort toward removing the misunderstanding in the mind of the Western grain grower as to its mode of conducting the Exchange business with very special reference to "futures"

Live Stock Shelters

Straw Barns For Cattle On Experimental Farm: How Constructed; Results Obtained

In the Canadian West the live stock producer is working under the maximum number of favorable conditions, says Prof. Dowell in the "Agricultural Alberta." In the first place he has access to an abundance of cheap fertile land which will prove to be even more advantageous during the coming periods of financial re-adjustment.

In the competition for foreign trade the man who is producing meat and milk on this cheap land will have every advantage over those operating the high priced farms on the corn belt. The corn belt area has long been the centre of agricultural prosperity of the United States, but for the reason just mentioned, this centre will shift in the very near future to those areas where cheaper land is available.

"Those not acquainted with the climate of the prairie provinces" Prof. Dowell goes on further to say, "will maintain that our winters are too prolonged. That our winters are frequently long and more severe than at eastern and southern points we will agree, but with it comes a more even temperature which makes it possible to use cheap winter shelter that would be useless in a milder climate. On the University farm at Edmonton common straw sheds have been used for both cattle and hogs with the best of results. Last fall a straw shed was built for cattle as follows: The inside dimensions were, 48 feet long, 24 feet wide, and 7 feet high, which gave sufficient space for 24 cows—twelve facing out on either side, with a driveway down the centre. Ordinary poplar poles were first set up to enclose this area and a second wall built around this leaving a two foot space for the walls. Straw was then tramped into these two foot walls and the roof covered to a depth of one and a half feet. The building faced east and west so that the driveway were on the north and south. On each side of the door to the south a space was cut and large glass windows set in. A similar opening was cut to the south of the centre of the east wall and another near the north of the west wall. Instead of glass windows, however these were covered with cotton cloth or screens to allow proper ventilation and at the same time to prevent draughts. A combination plank hay and grain trough was set in place for the cows and the floor covered with cinders. In addition there was a supply of 6 inch by 8 foot tamarack posts that were not being used, these being placed under the to give a good dry bed. The driveway making the cleaning out process quite simple. Cows were placed in this straw barn the first of last November and were so stabled every night up to June 1st. The thick walls kept the building warm at all times and ventilation took place naturally through the straw roof and walls and cloth covered windows. Cows in this building were giving milk throughout the winter and were just as comfortable as in the more expensive buildings. This type of barn would have been useless in a warmer climate, for the snow on the roof would have melted during the warmer weather—here, however, the more even temperature makes its use not only possible but very satisfactory.

"In the growing and feeding of live stock, the western climate has many other advantages which are well worth noting. It is now fairly well agreed that animals grown the region to the east of the Rocky Mountains possess the hardness and endurance that cannot be equalled in those sections producing a soft washy grass. Horses require a little more time to mature, but their flinty bone and sound feet and legs are unsurpassed. Then too, this fattening grass puts a much firmer finish on steers than is possible in the soft grass countries. Our sheepmen do not have to contend with stomach worms, which result in heavy animal losses in the warmer sections of this continent.

"Cold has little effect upon sheep, provided they are kept dry and are provided protection from the wind. Stockmen are just beginning to see the possibilities in this industry in the

No One Wants War

To go to war in the real sense, placing men in battle and resuming the old fighting, even if in a new arena against a new foe is the very last thing that Britain wants to do.

The whole British empire and all the Dominions cannot tolerate the very thought of another war. The entire world is war weary, in more senses than one.

How Britain can carry on war without making sacrifice or facing the enemy in the field, as the British government is likely to do, is some thing new in war.

The suspicion held by many people that the Soviet government is kept going largely because the government is at war, is not likely to make any active war undertaking any more popular.

There are many little wars in various parts of the world, the most serious being the war between the Soviet government and the Polish people. These disturbances prevent universal peace. But the big nations of the world and the people of the earth, have no liking for war. What the world desires more than anything else at the present time, is real peace.

"IT'S A DIZZY LIFE BUT AN AIRY ONE" SAYS GIRL WHO TRIED IT

After finding the bricklaying business too full of ups and downs this amazing young girl decided to take a shot at iron girdering for a change. She is Miss 'Collie' Collier a reporter for the Chicago Herald-Examiner. Miss Collier whose bump of curiosity is prodigious, was struck with idea of experiencing the thrills of being a day laborer. She started as a bricklayer, enough to give her all the knowledge just fifteen minutes of which was she wanted. She next hit the cement pile, but the men on the job cussed too much. It was at his point that the iron girders on top of the new attracted her eye. Without any trace of fear, this slip soon hammering in rivets 250 feet above terra-firma.

Main Things First

Farmers Will Not Rashly Spend Income From Present Crop: Many Will Start A Reserve Fund

Among business men these days one hears a lot of conversation anent what the farmers are going to do with the money they will get for this "bumper" crop that is being harvested. Business men are forever letting their minds run in these directions. If farmers have a good crop or even the prospect of one, ways and means are worked out for inducing him to exchange what he gets for it for something that somebody is trying to sell.

A city paper the other day carried a front page announcement that we would have 260,000,000 bushels of wheat this year in these provinces which, at present prices, and after deducting a generous 50,000,000 bushels for seed and what would be used on the farms, leaves a quantity to be marketed that will amount to something like $550,000,000, judged by the newspaper to be no inconsiderable sum and likely to make business hum in these regions for the next few months.

We have just one remark to make before this half a billion dollars, or whatever amount it is, is thrown in to lubricate the wheels of commerce. The remark is so old-fashioned that modern business men selling player-pianos, automobiles and other like commodities, which they hope to exchange for the cash that comes from this crop, would ridicule and make a joke of if they happened to hear it. However, it is this: We have had two or three rather poor years lately and in spite of high prices many farmers have not made money, hundreds, in fact, have gone into debt to keep things going. Remember last spring and the spring before how the government was distributing seed grain and taking a lien on the crop and land for the price of said seed. Well then, remembering that, and the remembering part will not be hard, why not build up a reserve out of the present crop, if you have a good one, and lay it down as a policy in future that no matter what kind of a year we have you will always have enough seed, at least, to plant your acres the following year. If necessity compels that the crop be marketed as soon as it is threshed and nearly all the return has to go to liquidate debts incurred during the poor years, to pay the hired man and provide fuel and food, make sure at least, that is, if you possibly can, that enough good seed is kept back to plant what will be cropped next spring and the spring following.

Experience is said to be a good teacher, but a pretty stern one. Well, if experience has taught anything since 1918 it has been that the only safe policy to follow in many sections of this country, is to figure on a poor crop every year and not a bumper one and no matter how prosperous conditions are or are pictured by the newspapers, to make sure of the main thing first. The main things in this country are food, fuel and seed.

As remarked, this is just an old-fashioned suggestion. One almost hates to offer it with so many optimists about shouting that the country is saved because newspaper headlines hail the crop as a bumper one and men with things for sale are planning selling campaigns to get their share of the half-billion dollars that will soon be moving city-wards. But common sense dictates that the course suggested is the wise one to take to ensure permanence to the main business of this country, which after all, is not selling things we can get along without, but growing things we need.

What Of Wheat Prices

U S Figures Show Cist of Growing Wheat To Be $2 15 Per Bushel Can A Wheat Grower Make a Profit?

Since the opening of the market, the wheat prices have been wobbly. There have been wide daily fluctuations and a general air of uncertainty. Just now the market is an hard one to figure out, but since one man's guess is always as good as another, it seems, from what we can gather, that so-called "expert" opinion, that is, the opinion of the brokers and grain men is that prices are due to go lower.

Nearly every year, of course, one hears the same thing, or very nearly so. Grain men talk lower, prices every fall, partly because it is good business to do so and partly because experience has taught them that the prices generally weaken when the heavy deliveries are made after harvest. However, there is a general idea this year that grain prices are too high and speculators who claim to have cut the teeth of wisdom and to know considerable about the grain market are taking the bear side and look for a general weakening tendency. The grain trade may not be right more than anybody else, but that is the way it sizes up the grain situation at present and since one man's guess is as likely to be right as another's we offer the grain trades' stock opinion for this season.

The United States Department of Agriculture has completed a study of the cost of growing wheat in the United States in 1919. On just two farms out of a total of 481 studied the cost of producing a bushel of wheat was as low as $1 per bushel. On 20 farms it was $5 or over. On the bulk of the farms the cost was somewhat less than midway between these two figures. The average cost per bushel for all farms was $2.15. On the basis of these figures farmers in the western states would have had to sell at $3 per bushel to make a profit of 10 per cent on their product. They did not get that much, neither did the Canadian farmers. The conclusion drawn from these figures is that the majority of farmers are not making more than wages growing wheat.

Who Can Vote?

Qualifications As Defined In The New Franchise Act: Read This Carefully: See You Get A Vote

Many people are asking this question, and it is important that electors should know what the qualifications are so that they will not be robbed of the privilege of the franchise in connection with the referendum. The Dominion Elections Act, prepared in the last session of parliament, has put the franchise for Canada citizenship on a new basis. At the forthcoming referendum citizens will exercise their right for the first time in this connection. We are publishing a digest of the law on this matter, which we trust will make it clear to all concerned. A careful study will show who is qualified to vote and how the names may be entered on the name list. Every person (not an Indian and not disqualified by official position, crime or otherwise) who is:

1 Twenty-one years of age and
2 Is now a British subject by birth or personal naturalization (see note below)
3 Has resided at least one year in Canada and two months in the Electoral District where he will seek to vote, preceding the issue of the Writ of Election. Note. (a) A woman who is British born or was born on the North American continent, and whose husband is not a British subject by birth or naturalization, is entitled to have her name placed on the voters' list.

(b) Any woman of other than British origin, who was born off the North American continent, and whose husband is now a British subject by birth or naturalization, must appear before a Judge and from him receive a certificate before being entitled to have her name placed on the voters' list.
(c) Any man or unmarried woman who is British born or was born on the North American continent, and who obtained naturalization through his or her parents may have his or her name placed upon the voters' list without a Judge's Certificate.

(d) Any man or woman of other than British origin and born off the North American continent, who obtained naturalization through his or her parents must appear in person before a Judge for certificate as above stated.
Every Indian may vote without a Judges' certificate who:
1 Is not ordinarily resident on an Indian reservation, and
2 Is a British subject over 21 years of age, and
3 Has resided at least one year in Canada and two months in the Electoral District where he seeks to vote, preceding the issue of the Writ of Election.
4 Any other Indian, wherever he ordinarily resides, who has served in the army, navy, or air forces if Canada in the late war, and who produces his certificate of discharge to the Registrar to get his name on the voters' list and to the Deputy Returning Officer at the time of polling

Crop Rotation

Is Scientific Practice: Keeps Farms Clean: Equalizes Labor: Leads To Mixed Farming: Increases Income

A great factor in agricultural improvement is the rotation of crops. Certain classes of crops have been provided by the Creator for the purpose of helping other classes of crops. These classes include first, the great staple small grain crops, wheat, oats, barley, emmer, flax and proso, or grain millet; second, the crops that require inter-tillage, corn sorghum, beans, and potatoes; third, legume crops and grasses, alfalfa, sweet clover, field peas, red clover, white clover, alsike clover, brome grass and timothy. The grain crops by means of their fine root systems, work through the upper soil layers, leaving a fine network of roots and drawing a maximum amount of soil moisture, but do not permit the control of weeds. The cultivated crops give opportunity to eradicate weeds and to conserve moisture in the soil and subsoil by so doing. The surface tillage they receive leaves the land in better shape for the crops that follow, but the constant cultivation destroys humus rapidly.

Some of the legume crops such as alfalfa and sweet clover are possessed of strong, deep root systems that penetrate the subsoil to considerable depths, thus drawing plant food from the lower soil layers. All of the legume crops co-operate with certain soil bacteria in fixing air nitrogen and making it available as plant food. The grasses, by means of their fine and intricate root systems, fill the soil with humus. Thus the three classes among the crops are ready and willing to work together for the betterment of crop yields and the permanent up-building of the soil, if we but give them a chance. All good rotations of crops provide for a certain fraction of the farm acreage devoted to each of these classes. In support of the view, that this is fact, though founded upon theory, it may be cited that several agricultural experiment farms, have tried out upwards of three score methods of rotating crops and that without exception the best returns have come from rotations built upon the three great principles: a grain crop, a legume crop, and a cultivated or inter-tilled crop.

Crop rotation carries with it greater safety in crop production. It enable one to farm clean. It spreads labor and income out over the year and it very naturally leads to the keeping of live-stock, cattle, horses, hogs and sheep.

Railroad Rates Up

Thirty-five Per Cent Increase In Freight Rates: Ten Per Cent On Passenger Rates: Fifty On Pullman And Sleepers

By virtue of a judgment issued from the offices of the board of railway commissioners, railway companies in Canada are granted an increase of forty per cent in eastern freight rates and thirty-five per cent in western freight rates, effective Monday, Sept. 13th, and to continue until December 31st. After December 31 the increase in eastern Canada is reduced from forty per cent to thirty-five per cent, and in western Canada from thirty-five per cent to thirty per cent. This increase is applicable to all the freight commodities with the exception of those which are expressly stipulated in the judgement, and for which special provision is made.

Simultaneously with the increase in freight rates passenger rates all over the country are advanced twenty per cent, so long as they do not exceed four cents per mile. This increase is effective only to December 31. After that a ten per cent increase is authorized, following July 1st passenger rates return to those in force at the present time.

The judgement will authorize increases of fifty per cent in sleeping and parlor car rates, and an increase of twenty per cent in the rate on excess baggage.

A summary of the judgement which has been handed down by the railway commission in the application of all Canadian railways for increased rates was given out by the chief commissioner who stated that during the hearing which opened August 10, and continued for nearly two weeks, a tremendous mass of documents had been submitted. The work of going through this evidence had been a very long one.

The judgement will refuse to authorize any increase in the rates on sand gravel and crushed stone and incidentals services such as switching, milling in transit, diversions, re-consignment, stop-overs, demurrage, weighing, etc., but provision is made for special application in any or all of these services.

No increase is authorized in the rates of milk or commutation fares, nor in the minimum class rate scale, or the minimum charge for shipment.

Authorization is given for an increase in the freight rate on coal from ten to twenty cents per ton flat rate according to distance. When the freight rate is under eight cents per ton an increase of ten cents is allowed. When it is over eight cents and under $1.50 the increase authorized is fifteen cents, and when the rate is over $1.50 the increase will be twenty cents per ton. The rate on cord wood, slabs, mill refuse, etc., for fuel purposes is increased ten per cent.
